

WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

None of us can go it alone in academic medicine, and the necessity (and power!) of genuine community seems especially critical in these remarkable and dynamic times. The theme for this year's annual meeting reflects this by communicating the critical importance for academic psychiatrists to build and nurture our connectivity with and for one another.

I am personally very excited to connect with all of you, dear AAP-ers (and AAP-ers-to-be!) at the 2024 AAP Annual Meeting this September 11-14 in the beautiful and historic capital city of Washington, D.C.!

Under the fearless leadership of our phenomenal Program Chair, Kien Dang, MD, we look forward to offering an outstanding, engaging, and meaningful program that is designed to be high-yield for all in attendance, from first-timers to never-missed-a-meeting-ers, and from trainees to early- and mid-career faculty to seasoned academic leaders. We were floored by the exceptional quality (and sheer numbers) of the abstracts submitted for each of the components of the program, including workshops, posters, Works-in-Progress, Educators' Showcases, and Media Sessions, and anticipate untold levels of enthusiastic learning this fall. And, in keeping with the meeting's theme, I am delighted to share that our keynote event will actually be a Keynote Panel of three inspiring and accomplished medical educators who will reflect on Connecting, Innovating, and Growing Together Across the Continuum of Academic Medicine: O. Kenrik Duru, MD; Shashank Joshi, MD, and Marcia Verduin, MD. I would be remiss if I did not offer congratulations to our beloved AAP Master Educator Program, vital to the career development of so many, as it has been going strong for 20 years now (and selling out registrations faster every year!). And of course, as always, there will be plenty of opportunity to meet and build community with fellow AAP-ers, from the friendly Meet, Mingle, and More event that will launch the meeting, to the convivial Welcome Reception, lively Career Development Lunch, and ever-popular Night Out, which will be one for the books this year- let's just say that you will definitely know you are in D.C.! I very much hope you will be able to join us and partake of (and contribute to!) the AAP goodness this September!

Ilijie Fitzgerald, MD, MS
AAP President 2023-24

Educational Program Accreditation

In support of improving patient care, this activity has been planned and implemented by American Psychiatric Association (APA) and the Association for Academic Psychiatry. APA is jointly accredited by the American Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

The APA designates this live activity for a maximum of 17.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

How To Claim Continuing Education Credit:

At the conclusion of the course, physician participants who have paid the required CME fee will be provided with a link to claim hours of participation and receive an official CME certificate by completing an online CME course evaluation.

Non-physician participants can also receive a certificate of participation. At the conclusion of the conference, participants should complete the online conference evaluation in order to print a certificate of attendance. Follow the instructions above but select "Certificate of Participation" as your certificate type.

*Please note that credits must be claimed within 90 days of the activity. Certificates will not be issued after December 11, 2024.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

As a result of attending this educational activity, participants will be able to:

- Describe teaching approaches that improve and enhance your current educational practice;
- Identify at least one new pedagogical approach to incorporate into your current teaching practice;
- Discuss challenges facing the field of academic psychiatry and identify strategies to address these challenges effectively;
- Identify experienced medical educators who can serve as mentors in developing an effective teaching portfolio and career, as well as peers who can serve as collaborators for new educational projects and scholarly work.
